Gagarin Describes Flight

Moscow Plans Huge Welcome For Cosmonaut

Khrushchev Hurls Space Challenge at Capitalist Nations

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin said today he worked on his notes, and even ate and drank while objects were floating around in the realm of weightlessness as he orbited the earth, the Soviet News agency Tass reported.

The Soviet astronaut, Tass said, described the eerie situation in the space ship when weightlessness took over.

The entire flight, he asserted, was work all the way and particularly in that phase.

Even so, he said, he felt excellent during that period of his 108-minute flight.

Awaits Hero's Welcome

As he waited in the Soviet interior for a hero's welcome in Moscow Friday, the 27-year-old astronaut told for the first time about his experiences as his five-ton space ship hurtled around the earth. Premier Khrushchev is expected to cut short his vacation at the Black Sea resort of Sochi to head the welcoming committee when Gagarin arrives in Moscow about noon.

When he became weightless, Gagarin said, it became easier to do everything.

"This is quite natural," he commented. "One's legs, arms weigh nothing, objects float in the cabin. Neither did I myself sit in the chair as I did before that, but hung in midair. While in the state of weightlessness, I ate and drank and everything occurred just as it does here on earth."

Worked in That Condition

"I even worked in that condition, wrote, jotting down my observations. My handwriting did not change although the hand does not weigh anything. Only I had to hold the notebook, otherwise it would float away. I maintained communications over different channels and tapped the telegraph key."

Gagarin said he learned first hand that weightlessness does not deprive a man of an ability to work, Tass reported.

"The transition from weightlessness to gravitation," he said, "to the appearance of the force of gravity, is smooth. One's legs and arms feel as before, as during weightlessness, but again acquire weight. And I am no longer hovered over the chair but eased myself into it."

As to what he saw from space Tass said Gagarin reported:

"I did not see the moon. The sun in outer space is tens of times brighter than here on earth. The stars are visible very well. They are bright and distinct. The entire picture of the firmament is much more contrasty than when seen from the earth."

Gagarin said the sunlit side of the earth was quite plain and he could see easily the shores of continents, islands, great rivers, folds of the terrain, large bodies of water, Tass said.

Flying over the Soviet Union, he reported he could see the great squares of the collective farms and could even tell cultivated from meadow land.

Emphasizing he was no mere passenger as his space ship circle the earth at a maximum altitude of 188 miles, Gagarin told Tass:

"I was entirely concentrated on carrying out the flight's program. I wanted to carry out every point of the assignment and to do it as well as possible. There was a lot

W. German Chief Reassured by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported well pleased Thursday by his foreign policy talks with President Kennedy. He apparently was reassured as to U.S. firmness under the new Kennedy administration in dealings with the Soviet Union.

The two men wind up their conference with two meetings today. Adenauer was scheduled to call on Kennedy for a 90-minute session this morning, followed by a final 30-minute meeting at the White House in late afternoon. Berlin was scheduled as a principal topic for this session.

On Sunday, the German leader, 85, will fly to Austin, Tex. He will be a guest over Sunday night at Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch. He is scheduled to address the Texas Legislature at Austin Monday before departing on his return flight to Germany. Adenauer obtained new assurances on U.S. policy with respect to West Berlin in the course of a meeting with Secretary Dean Rusk at the State Department late Thursday. Rusk told him and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano that the United States would be prepared to take whatever action may be necessary to meet any threat to its rights and obligations in West Berlin.

This reassurance was one of the things Adenauer came here to get. But perhaps even more importantly he wanted to form his first-hand impression of the new

Police Conviction Upheld by Court

EAST LIVERPOOL — The Seventh District Court of Appeals has affirmed a 1958 jury conviction of Ira Cunningham, ex-city police officer, and Jerry Raimond, onetime special officer, for a burglary of the Burbick Hardware Co. here.

The appellate court today notified the clerk of courts office at Lisbon in connection with the appeal of the case—which has already been before the Ohio Supreme Court—that the conviction has been upheld on the merits of the case.

Cunningham, now serving a one-to-five year term for attempted bribery of a juror, and Raimond were found guilty in November, 1958 of breaking and entering of the hardware store in 1952. Robert Carroll, another former officer indicted for the entering, was acquitted.

President Asks Congress To Enlarge FPC

Cites Backlog of Cases, Potential For New Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to enlarge the Federal Power Commission as a step to reducing its backlog of cases and clearing projects which would put more persons to work.

The President's request to increase the commission from five to seven members was in a special message on the federal regulatory agencies. He appealed, too, for the exemption of some small individual natural gas producers from rate regulation.

New Job Potential

At the end of February, the President reported, the FPC had 193 applications proposing construction of 5,761 miles of natural gas pipelines at a cost of $850 million. This, he said, involved an immense potential for creating new jobs.

"It is not to be assumed that all these applications would be granted," Kennedy said, "but it can safely be assumed that more dollars for construction, giving substantial employment throughout the country and making firm commitments out of orders for materials that are now merely contingent — orders that in turn would provide jobs for men and women in mills, factories and foundries."

Further, Kennedy said, there are now some 4,000 rate increases by natural gas producers and pipelines pending before the power commission "and still unresolved."

Effective Automatically

He noted that such increases are usually temporarily suspended but said that under existing law they become effective automatically, subject to possible regional filings unless the commission acts on the proposals one way or another.

"This incredible backlog of cases, consisting frequently of rate increases piled upon rate increases, involved hundreds of millions of dollars deemed ultimately refundable to the consumer," he said.

In this connection, the President endorsed a recommendation by a Senate subcommittee that the FPC be empowered "to make sure that any excess rate which is ultimately disallowed will be returned to the consumer" by requiring deposits of collections in escrow until the rate is finally approved.

Aid For Small Producers

He asserted Congress should provide exemption from rate regulation for small individual natural gas producers handling less than 2 billion cubic feet a year and now accounting for only about 10 per cent of total interstate sales.

Also, he said pipeline extensions to benefit existing customers and which do not invade another supplier's territory should be given partial or full exemption.

Leetonia Board Gets Orders

School Repairs Due At Washingtonville

LEETONIA — Extensive repairs must be made to the Washingtonville School building, according to a report submitted by State Fire Marshal George Boston to the Leetonia District Board of Education Wednesday night.

The board was given 60 days to make repairs to the doors, windows and heating system of the school. Board members will attend a hearing at the State Fire Marshal's office in Columbus April 26, to study these problems. Dr. W. W. Gephart, superintendent, reported that approximately 80 students will be taking driver training during the summer, thus requiring the use of two automobiles. George Trombitas and Ronald Todd will be instructors.

The cafeteria report showed an estimated $25 meals are served

GM Indicted By U.S. Jury

Faces Charge of Criminal Monopoly

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. has been indicted on a charge of criminally monopolizing production and sale of diesel locomotives and suppressing competition in the industry.

A one-count indictment against GM was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury, acting on evidence presented by the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Frederick G. Donner, chairman of the GM board, commented: "General Motors is not guilty of the monopolistic practices charged in the indictment. This will be clearly established at the trial."

The corporation is scheduled to plead in federal district court next Monday. If convicted, it could be fined up to $50,000.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that the charge against GM—violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act—resulted from a two-year investigation.

The indictment says GM used illegal sales methods to suppress competition and capture more than 84 per cent of the locomotive business for its electromotive division.

Citing GM as "probably the nation's largest shipper of freight," the indictment charges that GM routed shipments to favor purchasers of its locomotives, and withheld or reduced patronage to lines buying diesel locomotives from GM competitors.

80 Attend County Meeting; Petitions Are Presented

A proposed cutback of 47 million dollars in this year's state highway building programs may curtail any current plans for a U.S. Route 62 relocation in this area — either north or south of Salem — Guy E. Neep, Ohio deputy director of highways, told a delegation of 80 persons attending a Columbiana County luncheon meeting Wednesday at St. George's parish hall in Lisbon.

The meeting was sponsored by the Salem Chamber of Commerce in the interest of retaining Route 62 in Columbiana County.

Neep, speaking for Ohio Highway Director Everett Preston, who was forced to remain in Columbus to see what action would be taken by the Ohio Legislature on the proposed highway appropriation decrease, said the threatened cutback of monies would affect all highway projects now in planning stages.

The deputy director said, however, the department could not give an answer today to the location of the Route 62 bypass in the area even if the monies were available. He said a concise survey of the two logical areas for the bypass is being made by the department and will be the determinant of the highway's position in this area.

He did say, though, that "If we cannot show a person why a highway is in the right place, then we will admit we are wrong. Highways are built where they can be built, considering land acquisition and earth to build a modern roadway."

Neep said a major criteria taken into consideration by the survey will be the willingness of the people to have the highway pass through their community. "Any highway projects we now have on the books are of first concern to the communities."

Petitions Are Presented

Presenting the Columbiana County side of the issue was Atty. Lozier Caplan, chairman of the highways committee of the Salem Chamber of Commerce. Caplan told the highway officials that the purpose of the meeting and the recent concern over having the Route 62 bypass going through Columbiana County was "that the needs of Columbiana County must be served."

Answers Wilson; Sees Fund Troubles

Walter A. Hunston, president of the county commissioners, in replying to charges made yesterday by Frank Wilson, the Democrat on the three-man commissioner board, said this morning:

"On Feb. 21 County Auditor Kenneth Bell certified to the commissioners the amount of money in all funds for the year 1961. Aware of the necessary and unnecessary spending of the past few years I could foresee our financial troubles for this year. On Feb. 22, I personally started to analyze our certification and continued every day up until 4 p.m. in the afternoon of March 31."

"I did not call Commissioners Galen Greenisen or Mr. Wilson. They took the same oath of office as a commissioner as I did. The law provides that the budget be balanced on or before April 1. Yes, I did consult former Auditor Irvin Vorndran. I also talked with the present auditor and his deputy and several others.

"I also asked Mr. Wilson to analyze the budget and give his solution. He agreed we were in trouble but offered no suggestions. The balancing of the budget is a problem for the board of com-

Calcutta Man Sent To Penitentiary

LISBON — A 23-year-old Calcutta man was sentenced Wednesday afternoon to the Ohio State Penitentiary after he changed his plea to guilty and requested immediate sentence.

Robert Beighey was given 1-20 years for auto larceny, 1-15 years for burglary of L & M Hardware Co., and 1-15 years for burglary of Hitt Builders Supply, all in the vicinity of Calcutta.

Beighey was discovered inside the L & M Hardware Co. by sheriff's deputies. He was sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, who said he could serve the sentences concurrently which means he could get out in 10 months on good behavior.

JFK Hopeful Of U.S. Firsts In Other Fields

Warns Communists' Total Mobilization Poses Great Peril

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the Soviet Union will remain ahead of the United States for some time in the space race—that "the news will be worse before it is better."

But he said he is hopeful that the United States will be first in other scientific achievements of much greater benefit to mankind than the spectacular Soviet feat of firing a man around the globe and bringing him safely back to earth.

And while Kennedy credits the Soviets with "a most impressive scientific accomplishment," he does not regard it as any sign of "weakening of the Free World" in the struggle against communism.

Sounds Note of Warning

But in setting forth these views at a news conference Wednesday, the President did sound a note of warning.

He said: "I do regard the total mobilization of men and things for the service of the Communist bloc over the last years as a source of great danger to us. And I would say we are going to have to live with that danger through most of the rest of this century."

This ninth Kennedy news conference as President drew 426 newsmen — eight more than the previous record set at his first on Jan. 25. His face was a study in solemn seriousness as he dealt at length with the space situation, saying "we are behind," as he pledged that under no circumstances will U.S. armed forces be engaged in any move to overthrow Cuba's Fidel Castro regime; as he stopped just short of calling Castro a Communist; as he said that under present circumstances the United States continues to oppose admittance of Red China to the United Nations.

Hopeful of Red Reply
He also said he is hopeful that the Soviet Union will reply this week to the British proposal—backed by the United States—for a quick cease-fire in Communist-manned Laos.

And he voiced hope, too, that an upturn in the national economy will provide new jobs for several thousand civilians employed at about 50 military installations to be shut down.

Just before his news conference Kennedy sent Soviet Premier Khrushchev a congratulatory cable on the man-in-space victory. "It is my sincere desire," Kennedy told the Kremlin leader, "that in the continuing quest for knowledge of outer space our nations can work together to obtain the greatest benefit to mankind."

At the session with newsmen the President also extended congratulations to the young Soviet

Achievement Shakes World

Soviet Space Feat Regarded As Major Victory Over U.S.

LONDON (AP)—"It won't buy me no more frijoles," said the taxi driver in Mexico City.

But from London to Hong Kong to South America, men and women of the non-Communist world were shaken by the Soviet Union's successful launching of history's first man in space—shaken by exhilaration or fear, disappointment or doubt, hope or despair.

Most viewed the Soviet achievement as a tremendous victory over the United States.

"We are doomed," exclaimed a Chinese elevator operator in Hong Kong. "Comes the next war, we will all be wiped out. The trouble with Americans is they talk too much and do practically nothing."

But to Giovanni Batista Cardinal Montini, Roman Catholic archbishop of Milan, Soviet man's conquest of space meant "the stature of man is growing. The contemplation of the universe is growing. The hopes of the world are growing."

A young Swedish couple about to be married, Per Grogren and Christina Lindqvist, said excitedly, "Maybe our children will go to the moon for their honeymoon. But for us it will have to be Germany."

Walter Huber, a Viennese printer sounded a theme heard over and again in the Western world—"It's thrilling news to me, but a big disappointment that the Communists are there first and so far ahead of the West."

Michael Gapinski, 22, commercial artist whose studio in Berlin is inside the Communist ring, said: "As a Berliner, in the center of the cold war, I can only fear an intensification of the rivalry between the United States and Russia. This is a knock at American prestige and will probably encourage the Russians to be even more adventurous in their foreign policy. And that could lead to trouble for us here in Berlin."

And in West Germany, a refugee from an East European country now ruled by the Communists, commented: "The Russians should pay a little more attention to things on earth rather than worrying about space."

"I was shocked," said London cab driver Dennis W. McCann, 28. But Mary Kinsey, 23, London schoolteacher, said: "I wasn't really surprised but all the same I was excited and fascinated."

American humorist James Thurber, 66, in London to put on a play, ran his fingers through his grey hair and said he felt very low.

"Man is very strange," said the blind author and artist. "Why are we knocking ourselves out to get man into space when we don't know anything about ourselves?"

Thurber said he was "convinced the Russians have done this for its propaganda value against the Americans."

Italian actress Sophia Loren said in Rome she was thrilled—"It hit me more than the burglary of all my jewels in London last year."

"The United States has been dealt another lump on the head," said Filomena Labay, 27, a vendor of cigarettes and sweepstakes tickets in Manila.

Yang Hao Jan, 9, a schoolboy in Formosa, wanted to know "What is the United States going to do about it now that bad egg Russia has a spaceman?"

And a Chinese rickshaw driver in Taipei asked anxiously, "Why can't we shoot a man up there also?"

"Castro, and now a cosmonaut," shrugged the bartender in a Mexico City hotel. "Yankees take a beating, no?"

"Why don't the Russians put themselves and Fidel and the rest of the Cuban Communists in a big rocket and never come back?" said the bartender in a Havana hotel.

Obnoxious Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that housewives get tired of hearing: "What in the world do wives do with all their spare time?" "Hey, Mom, where is my blue sweater? I know I left it right here on this chair only two days ago."

"Gee, Mom, I'm already late, and if you don't drive me to school, I'll be marked tardy and—"

"This is Mrs. Chumley of the P.T.A. I wonder if you could help us address and mail a few letters? It will only take four or five hours."

"What do you need a new dress for? Didn't you buy one last year?"

"I'll bet as soon as I head out that door for work you'll hop right back in bed for a two-hour nap. All wives do that."

"Why should I help you do the dishes? That's woman's work."

"Hello. Hello. Marge? I missed the 5:56 train home. Bumped into Joe Burch and we stopped off for a couple. I'll catch the 6:48 or maybe the 7:14, or the 8:12 at the very latest."

"I know I promised to take you out tonight, Marge, but I had another one of those tough days at the office. Can't we make it another night?"

"Yes, I think my daughter can baby sit for you tonight, Marge. But I guess I'd better warn you—her rate has gone up to $1.25 an hour."

"Sure it's a nice looking hat, Mom. But don't you think it's a bit, uh, youthful, for you?"

"I know I should have given you more warning, honey, but these guys are just a couple of lonely old bachelors at the office, and they'll eat anything. So don't bother to fix anything special."

"Marriage is for women and children."

"Why, Mom! Guess what? You've got three more gray hairs. Isn't that funny?"

"I'll tell you what makes modern wives so nervous. Life is too easy for them. They don't have enough to do to keep them busy."

"Yeah, I know I promised you yesterday I'd do it today, Marge. But I'm tired. I'll do it tomorrow for sure."

Older towns and villages in Costa Rica are separated by a distance of seven miles because that was the distance an oxcart could travel in one day.

FBI Agent Cites Threats of Canton Bank Holdup Suspect

CLEVELAND (AP) — The government is expected to wind up in U.S. District Court today its case against a Canton man and woman on trial for participating in three northeastern Ohio holdups that netted $63,694.

An FBI agent testified Wednesday that Mike John Koury, 44, threatened him and his family when the FBI arrested Koury in January.

Koury and Miss Beverly Ruth Osborne, 27, are on trial before a jury in Judge James C. Connel's court.

The agent, Charles D. Vance, said he and other agents seized Koury as he was about to board a plane for Newark, N.J., Jan. 25. They started for Cleveland in an automobile to take Koury to the Cuyahoga County jail.

"I sat in the back seat next to Koury," said Vance. "He started to shout at us. He was blasphemous and threatening. He turned to me and said, 'I'll take care of you and your wife and children. And if I don't somebody else will.'"

Robert E. Abdulla, Canton realtor, testified that on April 23, 1959, a cash payment of $8,035 was made on a house bought in Miss Osborne's name for $13,500. Koury took part in the transaction, the witness said. Abdulla said the money was in $10 and $20 bills in a paper bag handed him by Miss Osborne.

Kenneth Boron, a salesman in Chetron's Furniture Store in Canton, said that on that same day Koury and Miss Osborne bought $3,555.66 worth of furniture and paid $2,300 in $10 and $20 bills carried in a paper bag.

That was the same day the Highland Park branch of the Commercial Banking & Trust Co. in Wooster was held up by two men who escaped with $41,510. Koury has been identified by witnesses as driver of the getaway car.

On Jan. 24, 1959, the County Fair branch of the Citizens Savings & Loan Co. of Akron was robbed of $15,108. Miss Osborne drove the getaway car in that holdup, authorities charge.

Charles Salley, salesman for a Cadillac agency in Detroit, testified that on Jan. 29, 1959, he sold Koury a new Cadillac on which Koury made a cash payment of $2,775 and was to finance the balance.

Thurber said he was "convinced the Russians have done this for its propaganda value against the Americans."

Italian actress Sophia Loren said in Rome she was thrilled—"It hit me more than the burglary of all my jewels in London last year."

"The United States has been dealt another lump on the head," said Filomena Labay, 27, a vendor of cigarettes and sweepstakes tickets in Manila.

Conspirators Go Home!

There is this that can be said for certain about the prospect of anti-Castro military action in Cuba:

It will be hard for Russian, Czechoslovak and Chinese Communists who have been carrying on the dirty work of the Communist Conspiracy in Cuba to pass themselves off as Cubans if mobs begin to chant for foreigners to go home.

This will be a heaven-sent opportunity, if the cards fall right, to advertise to the world that the ideological colonialism of the Communist Conspiracy is as hard to defend under attack as the economic colonialism of the old-time colonial powers.

Chinese, Russians and Czechs have been buzzing around Cuba in big-brother roles under the Castro regime. Perhaps they have conducted themselves so much more shrewdly than people of their type ever conducted themselves before that the Cubans will love them like brothers if bullets start whining.

BUT IN ALL probability, it will be the way it always is when big brothers and little brothers fall out in quarrels over outsiders. Cuban blood will be thicker than Communist ideological water. The Chinese, Russians and Czechs do not love the Cubans. They are in Cuba only to discomfit the United States.

For the United States to try to drive them out would be the height of folly. But for other Cubans to try to drive them out by overthrowing the Castro regime is Cuba's best bet to gain its independence — not to regain it but to gain it for the first time.

From now on, if Castro loses his gamble to convert Cuba to satellite status in the Communist Conspiracy, the United States should emphasize Cuban independence. Cubans should be made to know in all ways and in all things that they are responsible for themselves that their liberator at the turn of the century never again wants to be identified as the sponsor of any Cuban government.

THE NEXT GOVERNMENT of Cuba might be captured by the Communists, too, or it might drift into the Communist camp for lack of direction. If so, there would have to be still another attempt to save Cuban independence, the only goal the United States can afford to be identified with from now on.

If Cubans, themselves, drive out the conspirators, there can be no basis for complaint. One of the tragedies of the Spanish-American War was the failure of the United States to identify Cuba's liberation with Cuban rebels. For a generation and a half many Cubans have been likely to think of the United States as their conqueror as their liberator.

This time, Cubans, themselves, should liberate other Cubans.

Long Live Castro and His Beard

If the United States intends to pursue its still tentative "ice-cube bombardment" of Cuba's dictatorship, it should make known from the outset that no precaution should be spared to keep Fidel Castro safe from harm.

His security is the key to ultimate success against him in the cold war that is under way against his regime as an outpost of the Communist Conspiracy in the Caribbean. The worst thing that could happen to his opponents would be Castro's death.

That would convert him from a cornered Caesar into a political martyr. It would give Cubans who haven't learned to mistrust this man who betrayed the revolution against Batista an excuse to deify him, which is what many of them have been inclined to do from the beginning.

They needed someone they could deify. There has been little in the history of Cuba to justify confidence on the part of Cubans. They have been abused for generations. It never was hard to understand Castro's hold on the Cuban masses. No one ever made them feel important before.

But the fact is that he betrayed the Cuban masses when he turned over his government to the Communist Conspiracy, instead of making it responsive to the needs of the people who believed in him. They will not understand this until he has lived long enough to reveal the extent of his betrayal.

That might take another year. There is no hurry about pushing his government to the wall as long as he is doing a masterful job of discrediting it by his own mismanagement. Only one thing can save him now from failure — an accident that would convert him into a martyr or an attack that would convert him into a defender.

It is Castro the inept administrator who tries to cover up a lack of wisdom and wisdom with words that must be defeated, and in that combat Castro is his own worst enemy.

Parks Commissioner With a Problem

Right away everybody wants to know why Newbold Morris, parks commissioner for New York City, started a riot by putting a stop to outdoor singing that had been permitted in Greenwich Village's Washington Square on Sunday afternoons for the last 20 years.

It isn't hard to guess.

It could be because Commissioner Morris became aware of something that millions of people his age (he is 59) and the younger end of his generation have been noticing the last few years. The kind of people who were coming to Washington Square to sing, if it is safe to identify them by their pictures, would not make him feel sanguine.

They may have left him a little queasy, as a matter of fact. The kind of people depicted in the riot pictures taken last Sunday afternoon in Washington Square are leaving many of us queasy these days.

The thought that people like these may be settling down to careers of being what they are is unsettling — they and their wispy beards, their haunted house expressions, untidy garments and woolly minded thinking. They are as unhappy about their own futures as we are. We share a bleak outlook. What if they reproduce their own kind?

It may not have been the singing, the strumming of stringed instruments, or the walking on the grass that bugged Parks Commissioner Morris and caused him to break up the Sunday massing of the beatniks. It may have been the beatniks themselves, and if it was he can be forgiven. Individually or in the mass, they're hard to take.

Too Early to Tell

The city will pick up an extra $20,000 in income tax revenue, Tax Consultant J. Emerson Davis reported yesterday.

We don't imagine City Council nor any municipal department is counting on miracles as the result of the uncovering of extra accounts. It will, though, boost the total anticipated revenue to $170,000.

However, everything is an estimate and even if the income tax is the "goose that laid the golden eggs," you can't count your eggs until they are in the basket. Collections have just begun.

Ghost at the Banquet

Federal 'Tokenism'

By RAYMOND MOLEY

President Kennedy is finding himself in the same fiscal dilemma which has been faced by his two predecessors since the beginning of the Korean War. On the one hand are the promises he has made and which are well remembered by the prospective beneficiaries. On the other hand are the inexorable limits of the revenues from the present high rates of the income tax.

As the years have passed the pressures for welfare measures have come to be more and more pronounced.

As it has grown more critical, all three presidents resorted to what might be called "tokenism," a word widely used in the Negro press to express complaints against what their leaders have believed to be the slow gains accorded them in civil rights. But the "tokenism" which presidents have adopted is in the fiscal field.

The tremendous aggregate of expectations has been inherited from the pre-war Roosevelt policies by his three successors.

In those years from 1933 to 1940 federal emphasis was laid upon the responsibility of the federal government to provide for all sorts of real or claimed needs under the general welfare loophole in the Constitution.

ALL OF THIS was to be at the expense of the federal government. Immense federal obligations were recklessly promised in political oratory.

Politicians had little concern for the future. They were concerned in the production of immediate votes. The future could, they assumed, look after the details.

The following comparisons are rough calculations but they will suffice to show the impasse in which the presidents have found themselves.

In 1940 when the great wave of expectations had been well whipped up the population was about 130 million. It is now 180 million. So presumably there are more people to make demands.

Up The Chimney

By TRUMAN TWILL

The Scene: Living room of the Joe Kallikak home, Over-the-Hill Blvd., Rudbetville, U.S.A.

The Characters: Joe, his wife Ethel, and their three children, Deduction I, Deduction II and Deduction III. The three little deductions are triplets.

As curtain rises, Joe Kallikak is working with paper and pencil on cluttered table in living room. He is a balding man of harassed appearance, wearing glasses and working in shirt sleeves. His coat is hanging on back of the chair in which he is seated. Mrs. Kallikak and the three Deductions are scattered about in characteristic living room poses.

Joe: "No matter how I add up this mess, this family has been bankrupt for the last half of 1960 and continuing that way through the first quarter of 1961. As they say in Washington, we are engaged in deficit financing."

"Ethel: "We cannot afford to do without new carpeting throughout the downstairs and upstairs. We owe it to our position to have new drapes. What will people think of us if we do not buy two automobiles this year? My fur coat is not what I am accustomed to wear; the lining is ripped. I want . . ."

Joe (as if he had not been listening): " . . . but the difference between us and Washington is that only in Washington and the other headquarters of government can they carry on deficit financing without getting into trouble with the law. If I tried it, someone would be breathing down my neck and whispering frightening things in my ear."

Deduction I: "I demand that we have a new driveway, a new tennis court, a new swimming pool, a new power boat, a new croquet set and a new frontier."

Deduction II: "I demand that we have a new airplane, three new bikes, nuclear-powered scooters for the whole family and a super-colossal display of fireworks every Saturday night as a deterrent to our uppity neighbors with the new hi-fi."

Deduction III: "I submit that there can be no doubt we must have not just one new power boat but seven, all nuclear-powered, no less than three airplanes, two fur coats for Mommie and a football field with stands to accommodate a crowd of 5,000 to fight subversion, in addition to everything mentioned by Deduction I and Deduction II."

Joe (putting down his pencil, pushing up his glasses and emphasizing his concern with a closed fist struck softly against the table edge: "You really do think you're in Washington, bubblehead. Let me try just once more before I send for the man with the net to explain that only in government do people live according to their wants. Everywhere else, it's not what you want but what you can afford that determines what you get."

"Only government—and you mark my word—ever can say that nothing is too good for it. The rest of us must be satisfied with what we can pay for, and after government has taken its cut of what we earn that's macaroni for most of us. Believe me, it's going to be macaroni for the Kallikaks. "We are about to have a moment of truth in this snug little haven. We have been broke for nearly a year. I cannot ask Congress to vote for a higher debt ceiling for the Kallikaks. I cannot spend money I haven't earned, unless I can find a banker careless enough to let me go into the main vault of his money store unsupervised with a dispatch case under my arm."

"From now on, not one penny can be spent by anyone in this outfit without a certificate of necessity from Old Joe. Otherwise, how do you think I can keep on underwriting the proposition that nothing is too good for my great, good, almighty government though just about everything seems to have become too good for poor Joe. Joe has spoken. Selah!"

And so saying, Joe Kallikak rose imperiously and laying a finger aside his nose he gave a shriek and up the fireplace he rose. As he disappeared, his voice was heard in the distance. . . . and a merry April 15 to all and to all a goodnight."

JFK's Test Coming

By DAVID LAWRENCE

How Will Popularity React To Tax Message?

Within a few days the American people will get for the first time some basic information which will enable them to begin to make up their minds whether or not they like their new President.

For what has happened thus far hasn't really been decisive. It doesn't matter much whether the Kennedy household hires a French chef or whether the peace corps is going to convert native Africans to civilization. What does matter is whether the federal government is going to collect more tax money out of the worker's take-home pay.

The President is planning to send his tax message to Congress next week. It has been delayed for unexplained reasons, though it is widely suspected that the drafts of the message proposed by the President's task forces and advisers — the "theoretical" boys — have run into some penetrating criticism from members of Congress — the "practical" boys.

It's always wise to have a lot of idea men around. Perhaps, however, the comment of Prime Minister Macmillan in a speech in Britain not long ago apropos of the Socialist Labor party is worth repeating as applicable to the current situation in this country.

Mr. Macmillan said the Socialists have had some "original and sound ideas, but the trouble is that some of the ideas that are original are not sound and some of the sound ideas are not original."

Tax rates and regulations are at present a complicated affair that cannot be defended as either equitable or productive of adequate tax revenues.

There isn't, to be sure, any tax system that will yield enough revenue for the spenders.

The important fact today about new taxes is not whether they are going to be made more equitable as between different classes of taxpayers but whether forthcoming changes will disrupt the economic stability of the country for a long time to come.

Far from being a cure for recession, tax changes can prolong a recession by producing a disequilibrium in the economy.

The average citizen will be affected in many ways and particularly in his purchasing power. It seems ironical that, with all the talk about increasing consumer power to buy, the government should be considering a tax program that will curtail incomes for many people and many businesses.

FOR INSTANCE the Social Security taxes affect almost everybody, some will go up in a few months and some will be further increased at the end of next year.

If Congress goes ahead with pension changes and medical care for the aged, the Social Security taxes on the whole program will go up by nearly 33 per cent on a person who makes a little less than $90 a week.

Thus, the man who earns $4,800 a year or more now pays $144 a year in Social Security taxes, but the amount the federal government will take from him will go up to $193.75.

This means that the employer and the employee together will pay nearly $100 a year more than they do now. This may subtract billions of dollars in purchasing power.

Perhaps the most irritating change is coming in the plan to withhold taxes on interest and dividends at the source.

Low-income persons, especially retired people who do not have much income, will find their regular monthly stipend decreased. Also, if the companies have withheld more than later will be found due in taxes on certain individuals, a lot of red tape and plenty of time will be necessary before the money improperly collected will be refunded.

LIKEWISE, this means more trouble and expense for the businesses concerned. It is not clear as yet whether this procedure will apply to interest on savings accounts but it does mean a lot more work without recompense.

There's another item that will cause much controversy. It is the proposal to remove the limited tax credit on dividends. The argument against full taxation of dividends is that the citizen is taxed doubly if he puts his money in a corporation but not if it is invested in a partnership or a proprietorship. The argument being made here in favor of it is that "double taxation" is a myth.

Another plan of the administration calls for an increase in certain taxes which will add to the cost of tires, tubes and the like. This isn't going to help business, either.

There are to be sure, some tax havens that need correction, such as those enjoyed abroad by individuals who stay there for relatively brief intervals and get certain benefits anyway.

Also, there is need to eliminate abuses in what is defined as "ordinary and necessary expenses" in business.

Such a reform process tends to upset many established practices that have long been considered legitimate and equitable but which the government, in its zest for more tax collections, feels it will have to modify.

All this adds up to painful change — an impact on the economy which may not be felt for some months but would appear to be inevitable.

Once the tax message of the President is sent to Congress, it will be interesting to see what happens to the popularity curve of the President in the Gallup Poll.

Historians Meet For Program

Presentation of two historic documents highlighted the meeting of the Salem Historical Society Tuesday evening in GAR Hall. There were 22 members and one guest present.

Mrs. Lucille Wolfgang presided when Edward F. Stratton presented the Society with a certificate of service to James Brown, commending him and the other members of a corps of Minute Men for their service rendered in September 1862. They had responded to the call of the governor of Ohio, David Tod, to go to the southern border of the state to repel the invaders. The Minute Men were then to be known as the Squirrel Hunters Club.

The other document was James Brown's honorable discharge as a member of the Squirrel Hunters Club in September, 1862.

Harold Harmon, chairman of the program committee, presented Mrs. Edith Purviance, who gave a review of the book, "There Is No End," by William W. Tomlinson, a former Salem resident.

The book was presented to the Society.

Mr. Tomlinson, who is vice-president of Temple University, Philadelphia, has traveled abroad five times, and in this book, he gives his observations on the thinking of people in other countries and their look to us for their future.

He pointed out there are not two, but three great powers — Russia, America and the church; and that man has turned from God to guns and bombs. The great longing is not for war and strife but rather for understanding and trust which draws us together, the author said.

Mr. Tomlinson has written two other books, "Time Out to Live," which became a non-fiction best seller and "The Flickering Torch." He also wrote a radio script, "This I Believe," which was selected for broadcasting and publication in most of the free world.

A coverdish dinner is planned for the May 9 meeting at 6 p.m.

4-H Club News

Four new members were enrolled at the recent meeting of the Goshen Good Growers 4-H Club Monday evening at the home of Dick Beiry. They were Roland Taylor, Jack Bircher, Ivan Edwards and Pat Wilson.

Jim Malcomson presided at the Meeting. Roll call was taken by Delmar Karlen.

Plans were discussed for the skating party and for the fair booth.

The next meeting will be April 24 at the home of Douglas Martig.

KSU VOTES FEE HIKE

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The board of trustees of Kent State University has voted a $5 raise in registration fees for Ohio residents, to $70 a quarter in September.

Fees for non-residents will go up $15, to $300 a year.

To Wed In Fall

Miss June Wank

Mr. and Mrs. Orlan C. Wank of Columbiana announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, June Carol, to Jay C. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Chamberlain of RD 1, New Waterford.

Miss Wank graduated from Columbiana High School and is employed by Wells drug store in Columbiana. A Fairfield-Waterford High School graduate, Mr. Chamberlain is associated with his father in farming.

Custom of open church will be observed for the wedding Sept. 9 in the First Friends Church here.

Mrs. Louis Ospeck, secretary, read a notice concerning the spring regional meeting of the Garden Club of Ohio, April 26 at the Boardman Methodist Church. Registration will be held at noon, with the luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The program at 1:30 p.m. will feature a lecture demonstration by Mrs. Frank Dean of Little Silver, N.J., who is a world-famous authority on traditional and modern Japanese flower arranging. She conducts a school of floral design in New York City.

Reservations for the luncheon are to be sent by April 22 to Mrs. Donal Gerthing, 7025 Marantha Ave., Youngstown.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hurray, chairman, Mrs. Fred Koenreich, Mrs. Ruurd Fennema and Mrs. Dana Floding.

Mrs. Falkenstein Heads SHS PTA

Mrs. A. P. Falkenstein was elected president of the Salem Senior High School Parent - Teacher Association at its final meeting Tuesday night in the school cafeteria.

The meeting was conducted by George Rogers, president. Other officers named for the ensuing year were: Vice president, Russell Hackett; secretary, Mrs. George Perrault; and treasurer, Don Vincent.

The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Harry Loria, Dr. and Mrs. Leo Mundy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabol.

The Junior High PTA members joined the group for the program. Atty. Bryce Kendall spoke on the four-mill school levy to be voted on at the May primary.

The principal speaker was Wallace H. Nichols of Cleveland, an engineer and inventor. He spoke on "Inventing for Profit."

Mrs. Hyman Chentow, Mrs. Frank Sabol, Mrs. Raymond Himmlersbach and Mrs. Gordon Scullion served refreshments.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ruckman of Barberton and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Hosells of Akron and Mrs. William Fogg of Barberton spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stalner of Calla Road. The Ruckmans are former Salem residents.

Farm News

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

How to Combat Insect Pests

A report on insect aids and alerts prepared by B. D. Blair and R. P. Holdworth, extension entomologist, has been received by Floyd Lower, county agricultural agent, for the benefit of farmers in Columbiana County.

SOIL INSECTS—Potato and strawberry growers should treat soil broadcast with aldrin, dieldrin, or chlordane. Preventive soil insecticide treatment should pay on these two crops. In the case of continuous corn, in-the-row, or broadcast treatments will be worthwhile if rootworm, wireworm, or white grub damage has been seen previously in the field.

JAPANESE BEETLE GRUBS—Lawns can be grub-proofed during April, May or June with equally successful results. Aldrin, dieldrin, chlordane, or heptachlor are all equally satisfactory for grub-proofing.

GALLS ON SHADE TREES—Maples, oaks, elms, hackberries, and other shade trees will be leafing out very soon. Galls are variously caused by aphids, midges, mites, and small wasps that are hatching out now and will feed on leaves and twigs. Galls are formed on leaves and twigs only during this period of rapid growth.

We do not recommend that shade trees be sprayed to prevent formation of galls, unless they are young stock becoming established and/or the tree has been heavily galled last year. A spray with malathion while the leaves are expanding will prevent gall formation.

EUROPEAN PINE SHOOT MOTH—This insect is destructive to red, Austrian, and sometimes scotch and mugo pine. Caterpillars overwinter in buds and leave their hibernating quarters in mid-April to enter new, growing buds. DDT 50 per cent wettable powder at the rate of 2 rounded tablespoons per gallon of water can be used to protect growing buds. The April application will leave enough DDT to kill European pine sawfly larvae, which may appear during the latter part of April.

TERMITES—Termites are swarming now and will continue to swarm heavily through May. Since any form of termite control is expensive, identification should be positively made before control measures are applied.

Flying termites are frequently confused with winged ants. Both have swarming periods. Ants have "wasp waists" while termites do not. Ants have four wings but the hind wings are much smaller than the fore wings. Termites have four wings of equal size.

Soil insecticides properly applied are recognized as effective for a ten-year period. Commercial exterminators are usually engaged to effect control. Information on subject is available in the County Extension Service office.

M E A D O W S P I T T L E B U G—Spraying of clover and alfalfa for control of spittlebug is strongly recommended in Ohio. Yields can be increased from 25 to 50 per cent. The insecticide can be applied either in the early spring for nymphal control, or early fall to control the adults before eggs are deposited in the stems. The Spring treatment is preferred as it gives more consistent results.

For spring treatment, the insecticide should preferably be applied one week after spittle bugs first hatch; usually when the crop is about six inches high. At this stage spittlebugs are about as big as a pin-head, orange in color, and the spittle-mas is not yet present. Use at least 10 gallons of water per acre.

Lindane at the rate of one pint of 20 per cent emulsion concentrate per acre applied before the crop is 6 inches tall is now recommended. The meadow should not be grazed or cut for forage within 30 days after treatment. Methoxychlor at the rate of 2 quarts of 25 per cent emulsion concentrate is also recommended. Grazing or harvesting is not permitted within 7 days of treatment with this method.

Best wool comes from the shoulders and sides of sheep. Wool grows coarser and less desirable farther back and lower down.

Winona

Dick Johnson spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland F. Johnson of Winona, has returned to Bowling Green State University to resume his studies in his junior year in education. He had as his guest a fraternity brother, Dick Powell of Cleveland.

Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will be guest of the Bunker Hill Church Society tonight at 8. Those desiring transportation should call Mrs. Don Dusenberry.

Miss Sharon Stamp, who is ill at her home, is improved.

Rev. Ken Garrod, pastor of the Methodist Church, announces a week of evangelistic meetings to begin May 3. Preaching will be by the Sons of Wesley and song service by the Country Squires.

Mrs. Lizzie Whinery celebrated her 87th birthday Monday. Visitors included Mrs. Earl McNamee and Raymond Whinery of Guilford and Mrs. Edward Dunn of Salem. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whinery for dinner. Mrs. Whinery makes her home with Mrs. Martha Edger-ton.

Linda and Ronald Yarwood have returned home from the hospital where they underwent tonsilectomies.

Winona WCTU members were guests of the Youth Temperance Council Monday at the home of Mrs. Richard Stamp.

Group singing was led by the YTC leader, Mrs. Howard Bailey with the devotions by Linden and Gerald Gamble. Pat Boone's book, "Twixt Twelve and Twenty," was reviewed by Lee Stamp, Gary Coffee, Linden Gamble, Gerald Gamble and June Beary.

YTC members have made plans to attend the YTC camp at Wittenberg University this summer. Mrs. Earl Ruble reported that boxes of fruit were sent to shut-ins at Easter.

Upon recommendation of the union, Miss Helen Noling of Kensington, teacher at West Township School, has been granted a scholarship from the State WCTU for a six weeks summer course for accredited teachers at Northwest University in Evanston, Ill. The local union will offer a scholarship to a teacher or school official to attend the Ohio School of Alcohol Studies, June 26-30 at Muskingum College in New Concord. Mrs. Clyde Hendershot and her speech contest committee are soliciting young people of the three Winona churches as contestants in age groups 6-8, 9-11, and 12 and over. The next meeting of the Union will be held in the Friends Church May 18.

Local women attending the WCTU Spring Institute at Damascus, Tuesday were Mrs. Donald Mayhew, Mrs. Claudia Mountz, Mrs. Clyde Hendershot, Mrs. Alice Wolford, Mrs. Earl Ruble, Mrs. L. J. Hadley, Mrs. Emory Holloway, Miss Josephine Dunn, Mrs. Willard Pimm and Mrs. Elsie Schaal.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Gray were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Don Humphrey of Adair in celebration of Mrs. Gray's birthday.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gray, Bonnie and Sandy. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webster, Barbara and Patty and Mrs. Belva Godward of Warren, Pa., were guests Sunday of Josephine and Albert Dunn.

Edwin Dillon Named Citizens Bank Head

COLUMBIANA — Edwin B. Dillon, 52, member of the staff of the Citizens Savings Bank since 1946 and formerly cashier and secretary, has been named president, succeeding Paul E. Reeves, who stepped out last month under the bank's retirement program.

E. B. Dillon

A graduate of Fairfield Centralized High and Navy veteran of World War II, Dillon is a member of the New Waterford United Presbyterian Church, the ministerial relations committee of the Mahoning Presbytery, Allen Lodge F&AM, Columbiana Rotary Club, Historical Society and American Legion, holding offices in several of the organizations.

He also is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking, Youngstown chapter; Ohio School of Banking, Ohio University, and Mellon School of Banking, Mellon National Bank, Pittsburgh.

Married to the former Camille McBurney of Middlebury, they have a son, Ross, who is a senior, at Fairfield-Waterford High and has been accepted for enrollment next fall at Westminster College.

THE METHODIST MEN'S group of the local church will sponsor a public fish fry Friday from 5 to 7 p.m. at Dixon school. Proceeds will go into the church building fund.

Miss Grace Leidy, director of social services for the Florence Crittenton home in Youngstown, will be guest speaker for the Columbiana Mothers Club meeting Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William D. Jones. Mrs. George Fisher will be associate hostess.

TWENTY-FIVE were present for the recent meeting of the Columbiana Rose Society, which was organized a year ago. Dr. Thomas King, president, named a committee to prepare the society's display for the fall street fair.

The society is making arrangements for a meeting soon with the Youngstown Rose Society. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guy and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Orr. Next session of the group will be May 2, when it will tour gardens of several of the members.

Mayor E. L. Calvin, Councilmen John Robinson and Dale Klingensmith, Wayne Paulson and Roy Guy were among area representatives at the Route 62 relocation meeting Wednesday in Lisbon.

A recent guest in the Scott home was Mrs. Sylvia Raley of Rogers.

Mrs. Francis Harter has returned from a visit with her sister in Pittsburgh.

Red Cross Got $6,000 Campaign

A total of $6,000 was collected in this area in the Red Cross fund drive during March.

This was reported by E. U. Whitacre, chairman, at the quarterly board meeting of the North Columbiana County Red Cross Chapter Tuesday. This is exclusive of Salem and Perry Township, which are covered by the United Fund.

Twenty-two representatives from Salem, East Palestine, Lisbon, Columbiana, Leetonia, New Waterford and Winona were present.

Mrs. Z. R. Taylor reported on the Junior Red Cross. Mrs. M. O. Riegel, chairman of the volunteers, announced that the Gray Ladies will be in the local hospitals in May.

Reports of the first aid classes and home nursing classes were given by Mrs. Hobart Butcher, Red Cross executive director. Members voted to send two senior high school delegates to the Junior Red Cross national leadership training center at Miami University July 16-23.

Louis Raymond Jr., chairman of the blood program, discussed the new time schedule of 1 to 7 p.m., which will enable more merchants and teachers to donate blood.

William McKay, chapter president, conducted the meeting. The next meeting will be July 11.

President

astronaut who rode the space vehicle around the world and back to the Soviet Union.

In reply to a question about the significance of the Soviet achievement, Kennedy said the United States has expected all along that the Soviets would win the spaceman race.

This was clearly indicated, the President added, because the Soviet Union has developed mightier booster rockets than the United States has. But he said the United States hopes "to make progress in this area this year."

A reporter told the President that a member of Congress had said he is tired of seeing the United States second to the Soviet Union in the space field.

"Well," Kennedy replied, "the Soviet Union gained an important advantage in securing these large (rocket) boosters, which were able to put up greater weights, and that advantage is going to be with them for some time."

"However tired anybody may be, and no one is more tired than I am, it is a fact that it is going to take some time."

missions whether you analyze it collectively or individually. The budget was completed at a special meeting March 31 at 4 p.m., at which time all three commissioners were present, the deadline being that day. Mr. Wilson was there but offered no suggestions and made it convenient to be absent when it was time to sign. Realizing the duties of a county commissioner, had Mr. Wilson spent one-half the time analyzing the budget before it was passed, as he has taken to write notes to press and radio, he may have come up with a different solution.

"Neither Mr. Greenisen nor myself were happy about cutting (funds) any office. The law provides that certain monies, go to certain places and that is what we tried to do."

"In Dec. 1958 we asked for a competitive civil service examination for superintendent of the County Home, which was given, the early part of 1959 we received a certified list of three names of which Russell Phillips was unanimously appointed by the board of commissioners, which is in accord with the civil service law. On, or about October of the same year, I could see that Mr. Wilson and Mr. Phillips were having difficulties. Maybe Mr. Phillips has made some mistakes as I have said in the meeting but if Mr. Wilson can prove the statements he has made in the office about the superintendent, he should prefer charges as law provides and ask for his removal."

"We have problems and we should be able to sit down as a board and solve them without going through the radio and press, and believe me, 1959 and 1960, were not easy for me on the board of commissioners when it was run by two Democrats."

"With the 1961 budget balanced as it is, I predict 'that without the cooperation of every elected official, 'we're going to face more financial troubles in mid-July of this year and for 1962-1 can see a real problem without some new money coming into the general fund."

tion from the usually lengthy FPC permit procedure. Kennedy singled out the FPC for specific recommendations in a message calling for more speed and efficiency in all federal regulatory agencies.

These include, in addition to the power commission, the National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency and Federal Maritime Board.

Gagarin

of work. The entire flight meant work."

While the space ship was under ground control for the landing, Gagarin helped with the control phases. Soviet scientists said when the historic flight was announced Wednesday.

The hero of the Soviet Union has been promised a tremendous reception by Khrushchev.

"We shall celebrate with you with all our people, this great feat in the conquest of outer space," the premier told Gagarin by telephone.

Banners were going up in Red Square, the show case for the biggest Soviet celebrations. Tall, silver-colored flag poles were in place. Crowd barriers were being put up.

Millions from this capital and the suburbs will pour out to line the route from the airport to Red Square.

As he awaited his flight by jet liner to Moscow, the man few in the Soviet Union knew before Wednesday's dramatic announcement was the toast of the nation.

Soviet writers interviewed him at an air center somewhere in the interior. He told of the wonders he had seen from the space ship, of the earth appearing blue beneath him, the sky black overhead.

He still wore his blue space suit and helmet as he spoke to a correspondent for the armed forces newspaper Red Star.

"I feel well, as you can see. I am safe and sound. The flight proceeded successfully. The equipment worked extremely well. I am boundlessly happy that it has fallen to my lot to open to mankind the way into space," Red Star quoted him as saying.

Both Khrushchev and the space pilot who made history hurled a challenge to the capitalist countries to "try and catch up with us."

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Gagarin, as he stepped from his space ship, declared: "I am ready to carry out any new assignment for our glorious Communist party, our own Soviet government and our great motherland."

The youthful pilot — promoted from senior lieutenant to major only Wednesday as he left to make his epic flight—said he felt "well, extremely well" all during his journey into space and his landing back on earth.

"There was almost no trace of fatigue on his young face," reported the Pravda correspondent who interviewed him after the landing.

The space ship was reported to have come down "exactly in the designated area." The only clue to its location was that it was in farm country, for tractor drivers were reported among the first to congratulate Gagarin and a helicopter flew him to the nearest town.

Soviet scientists and newspapers so far have given few technical details of the flight.

But a hint on the separation of Gagarin's space capsule from the cosmic ship came from a scientist named U. Suskov, who told the newspaper Soviet Russia: "At an altitude of some kilometers over the present area of landing the velocity of the cosmic ship appears to have been low enough in order to catapult, or to separate, the chamber from the cosmic ship and to lower it with the usual parachute."

The word Suskov used to describe the number of kilometers was "neskolko," which is somewhat similar to the English word "several" but generally means anything under 10.

17,000 Miles an Hour

Otherwise the Soviets have said of Gagarin's flight that he was in the air for one hour and 48 minutes and spent one hour and 29.1 minutes in outer space, the time it took the five-ton space ship to circle the globe. It traveled at a speed of about 17,000 miles an hour, six times as fast as man ever flew before.

Gagarin's minimum distance (perigee) from the earth in making the globe-girdling swing was 110 miles and his maximum (apogee) 188 miles. The angle of the orbit to the equator was 65 degrees 4 minutes. And the flight passed over South America and Africa.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Cora Snook

MINERVA — Mrs. Cora May Snook, 92, of 204 East St., died at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday at the home of her son, Orin W. Snook of 500 East St., following a two-month illness.

Born here May 15, 1868, she was the daughter of William and Louisa Slack Haynam. Her husband, Benjamin D. Snook, died in 1948.

She was the oldest member of the First Christian Church, a member of the Berean Class and the Eastern Star.

She was the last surviving member of a family of 10 children. Besides Orin, she leaves two other sons, Clay A. and Harold B., both of Minerva; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Gotschall-Hutchinson Funeral Home. Rev. Arthur Poll, pastor of the Christian Church, and Rev. Milton R. Davis of the First United Presbyterian Church will officiate, with burial in Liberty Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Countians Taken to Hospital, Reformatory

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies today took Homer Gamble of East Liverpool and Albert W. Dailey, 20, also of East Liverpool to the Lima State Hospital and Mansfield Reformatory, respectively.

Gable, who received a 1-10 year sentence for taking undue liberties with a 16-year-old boy, will undergo treatment at Lima hospital before he begins his term in prison.

Dailey was sentenced to 1-20 years after he violated terms of his probation, two years ago. Deputies will return Raymond G. Campbell, 25, of East Liverpool charged with second degree manslaughter in the shooting of his wife, and Jacob Junior Fife of East Liverpool and David Dwaine Petty, Salineville, who had pleaded guilty to sodomy. They were given examinations at Lima hospital prior to being sentenced.

officials petitions that included over 3,000 signatures of civic-minded people who desire the bypass to go through Columbiana and are against the route being relocated in Mahoning County.

The resolution petitions were accepted by Bob Wallace, Director Preston's executive secretary and also a deputy director. Wallace said the petitions and resolutions would be given "good consideration" for the department knew the work that was involved.

Stresses Local Needs

Atty. Caplan, speaking for the local county group, spelled out the need for the highway to pass through Columbiana County.

He pointed out that surveys have revealed that the route could be best built in the local county. He said that four considerations in engineering surveys have shown that the southerly bypass would be feasible. These four considerations were a traffic study in 1957, a general topographical survey of both areas, service to communities involved and consideration of other highways in the area.

Caplan told the officials that the attempt to secure the southern bypass route is a united effort by both Republicans and Democrats, farmers and non-farmers, and both sides of other factions in the area.

He said that construction costs were equal in both areas and that acquisition of lands for the route would be less costly in the southern area.

Atty. Guy Mauro, a member of the Salem Chamber highways committee, told the Columbus group that he had heard rumors to the effect that a decision had already been made for the relocation of the route without consideration of the Columbiana County path. He asked if there was any truth to this information.

Answering was Ross Schultz, in charge of preliminary highway design for the state, who told the group that "No final action has been taken in the matter. All aspects are still under consideration by the department."

He went on to say that if a decision had been made not in favor of the southerly route, that Mr. Preston would have seen to it to announce the decision in person.

James Aldom, also a member of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, asked Nepper how long the present Route 62 would be in operation after a location for the bypass is selected.

Nepper said it is hard to predict the start or completion of any highway project. However, on the average it takes from two and one-half to three years minimum time to complete a project after all transactions are made. He said that finances could make the project take up to 10 years. "Cooperation all along the line is a big factor," he said.

Nepper also commented that if a decision would be made adversely to Columbiana County as to the location of the bypass, the Ohio Highway Department would let the local group know ahead of time as to its findings and its reasoning.

Included among the 80 men in attendance at the meeting were the mayors from all surrounding communities, members of Chambers of Commerce, and other county officials interested in the project.

All district chairmen of the Heart Association are expected to be present.

Jaycees Sponsor Record Hop For School Students

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a free record hop for all Salem Senior High School students Friday from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. at the Memorial Building.

Highlight of the evening will be the selection of the Jaycee youth king and queen. The candidates are: Seniors, Don Davidson, Barbara Saunders; juniors, Allen Ewing, Brenda Smith, sophomores, Bill Beery and Georgia Snyder. They were named by the students taking part in the recent "youth in government" project.

The king and queen will be chosen by the penny-per-vote system, and selection is to be based on the students representing the best all-round student leadership. Jaycee President Edward Butcher will crown the couple during intermission. Refreshments will be provided.

Proceeds from the penny vote will go to the high school Student Council exchange student project. Robert Conroy is chairman of the planning committee, assisted by Richard Brautigam and Jack Haldeman.

Republican Club Hears Greenisen

LISBON — A small group attended the Mid-County Republican Club's meeting Wednesday evening at Village Hall. Mrs. Ray Davies, president, presided.

Commissioner Galen Greenisen, guest speaker, reported on repairs at the County Home which has been ordered closed by the state. He said a maintenance man, Harold Cleckner of Columbiana, has been hired and is working on improvements at the County Home hospital.

Greenisen said a $5,000 fire alarm system and a $10,000 sewage disposal plant system must be installed, but that there are no funds available in this year's budget. He said the state is expected to allow the county to continue to operate the home after necessary repairs are made.

The club's public card party will be held Friday, April 28, at St. George's parish hall, and tickets can be purchased from any member.

Heart Association Will Meet Tonight

Columbiana County Heart Association will hold its quarterly meeting tonight at 8 in the Wick Hotel at Lisbon.

Mrs. James H. Walls, executive secretary of the Youngstown Heart Association, will present the financial report for Columbiana County Heart Fund Drive held in February.

A film on three phases of heart disease will be shown, and Dr. Peter Cibula of Lisbon will conduct a question and answer period on various stages of heart disease.

All district chairmen of the Heart Association are expected to be present.

375 Persons Attend 4-H Training Session

Approximately 375 persons attended the 4-H officers and advisers training session at Fairfield-Waterford High School Wednesday night.

The 4-H Scouts of Leetonia opened the session with a demonstration meeting featuring motions, committee reports and parliamentary procedure. Eric Painter, president, presided, with Miss Audrey Harrold as the club adviser.

The group viewed the film "Citizen Chang," which was followed by a discussion led by Joseph V. Burger, county extension agent in 4-H work.

The 4-H officers then attended their respective office training sessions. Proposed Ohio Annexation Bill Criticized by School Unit

By DUANE E. CROFT
Salem News Staff Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio—Representatives of several local school districts criticized a proposed annexation bill Wednesday in a hearing before the Ohio Senate Judiciary Committee.

They objected to a section of the measure which would eliminate the present requirement that the State Board of Education approve any annexations that would split existing school districts.

The bill would replace this requirement with a provision for annexation for municipal purposes only, leaving the school district intact if the nonvoted tax levy in the annexed area did not exceed the constitutional 10-mill limit.

The school spokesmen at Wednesday's hearing said the bill's adoption in this form would speed what they called "the piecemeal erosion" of school districts bordering on municipalities.

The witnesses were divided on the need for increased annexation. Some pictured cities' efforts to expand as selfish land grabs while others said cities must grow but not at the unfair expense of other subdivisions.

Hearings on the bill have been slowed by the heavy schedule of the committee. Although supporters of the measure have not completed their testimony, Chairman Fred Hoffman, R - Cincinnati, heard the schoolmen because they had come from out of town.

Hoffman said additional hearings will be scheduled next week and backers of the bill will have an opportunity to speak then.

Later, representatives of townships are certain to be heard, since they've been at the head of opposition to the measure in two previous sessions.

Twice before the measure has been introduced, passed in the House and stopped in the Senate. Backers changed their tactics this time, starting it in the Senate in an effort to overcome objections there before pushing it in the House.

The school provision in the bill has been among the most controversial and the sponsors have indicated they are willing to delete it or substitute a different approach in order to save the other changes included in the measure.

Controversial Civil Service Bill Passed by Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill which apparently would effectively bar expansion of the civil service system in county governments has passed the Ohio House. It received favorable votes of 70 Republicans and 34 Democrats.

Some of the 25 opponents went so far as to say final enactment of the measure would mark the end of the so-called merit system in county governments. The bill now goes to a questionable fate in the Senate.

Enter Sports System

"If this bill becomes law," asserted Rep. Charles W. Jackson, D-Clermont, "exit civil service employees; enter the spoils system."

The House debate on the civil service bill was the highlight of an otherwise routine legislative day as lawmakers prepared to close up their 15th work week. Weekend adjournment was scheduled today after consideration of another batch of bills having limited interest, at best.

Before they quit for the week, House members were to pause for a tribute to Rep. Ralph L. Humphrey, R-Ashtabula, who died of a heart ailment Monday night after a committee session.

The Senate had intended to vote Wednesday on a House-approved bill to increase the limit of liability insurance a school board may carry on one of its buses from 100,000 to $300,000. But the debate snagged on the question of whether school boards have any liability, and the measure was sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee so the question could be studied.

Would Exempt Top Aids

The civil service bill which stirred up a ruckus in the House is designed to exempt the top aides of elected county officials from the merit system.

In addition to a long list of exempt employees under present law, the measure would add administrative or fiduciary (trustees, etc.) employees directly responsible to elected county officials. It also exempts those "whose fitness would be impracticable to determine by competitive examination."

After the bill's passage, Reps. A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, and Ralph Rudd, D-Lake, failed in their effort to change the bill's title. They wanted it to say that it provides for elimination of civil service among county employees.

Other bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate would:

Allow a polling place to be located in an adjoining precinct.

Give sales tax exemption on building materials sold to Ohio contractors for out-of-state construction.

Allow rear-view mirrors to extend six inches beyond the sides of vehicles which already are the maximum width allowed on Ohio highways.

Two bills were introduced in the Senate. One, an emergency measure, would authorize election boards to lease office space for periods of up to 20 years. The other would change the official Ohio flag from a pennant to a rectangular banner featuring the Great Seal of Ohio.

By accepting minor House amendments, the Senate completed legislative action on a bill to give school principals, as well as superintendents, authority to suspend misbehaving pupils up to 10 days.

Action on a bill to ratify the Great Lakes Basin Compact, making Ohio part of an interstate program to develop and conserve water resources in and around the lakes, was postponed in the House.

The bill calls for an $18,000 appropriation, and one of the sponsors, Rep. John J. Connors Jr., R-Lucas, said he may move to refer it to the Finance Committee for study before a floor vote.

Vernon Law Forces In Run That Beats Pirates, 2-1

Hits Cepeda With Bases Full Dodgers Edge Phils 3-2 at Los Angeles

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

If there was one phase of baseball which Manager Gene Mauch stressed with his young Philadelphia Phillies in spring training, it was base running. "Mistakes cost you games," he said, "and most of the mistakes our kids make are on the bases."

The point was driven home at Los Angeles Wednesday night as the Phillies ran themselves into a weird doubleplay that squelched a ninth inning rally and gave the Dodgers a 3-2 victory while leaving the Phils wiser but winless.

It was one of but two games played in the majors. The San Francisco Giants also survived a ninth-inning threat and beat Pittsburgh 2-1 in the only other game scheduled in the National League. Two games were scheduled in the American League—Chicago at Washington and Los Angeles at Baltimore—and both were rained out.

Moon Clubs Homer

The Phils' folly came after the Dodgers had broken through against Frank Sullivan, making his NL debut, with three runs in the seventh on Wally Moon's homer and a scratch single by winning pitcher Johnny Podres.

Trailing 3-1, the Phils got rid of Podres when Johnny Callison and Tony Taylor opened the ninth with singles. Callison took third when rookie Willie Davis bobbled Taylor's hit to center and scored on a high bounce to the left of the mound by pinch-hitter Tony Curry. Taylor scooted to third on the play when reliefer Larry Sherry's peg to the plate was wild.

Pinch-hitter Tony Gonzalez forced Curry for the first out, but the Phils were still in business, with runners on third and first as pinch-hitter Bob Sadowski came to the plate. That's when the Phils' boobos popped up—and an alert Dodger defense shot 'em down.

Taylor broke for the plate with the tying run on Sadowski's grounder to short, but was caught between third and home when Maury Wills threw to catcher John Roseboro. Roseboro made the tag on Taylor, after pairing with third baseman Junior Gilliam for the run-down, and then flipped back to Gilliam, who nailed Gonzalez as he attempted to go from second to third, for the game-ending doubleplay.

Clemente Muffed Foul Fly

At San Francisco, rookie catcher Tom Haller made his first major league hit a seventh-inning homer that broke up a four-hit shutout against the Giants by Vern Law. It came after Robert Clemente dropped Haller's foul fly to right. The Bucs' 20-game winner of last year's pennant club then forced in the clincher when he hit Orlando Cepeda with a pitch with the bases loaded in the eighth.

The Pirates, who scored in the sixth off winner Billy Loes had two on with two out in the ninth when rookie reliever Jim Duffalo got Clemente to hit into a force out.

Greenford's Shoff Repeats On Inter-County All-Stars

Greenford's Clyde Shoff is the only repeater from last year on the 1960-61 All-Inter-County League basketball team.

Shoff, a 5-11 senior, was a second team all-league choice last year. This season the six head coaches in the loop decided to name one 12-man squad.

In addition to Shoff, Greenford is represented by Gary Wilt and Bob Cook. Fairfield-Waterford placed two men on the honor squad, Clarence Kannal and Tom Messenger. North Lima is represented by Ward Manchester and Western Reserve placed Dick Scriver on the all-league team.

OTHER MEMBERS named to the squad are John Hvidsak, Chuck Schiavello and Jim Dovich of Lowellville and Jim Betts and Pat Patterson of league champion McDonald.

Patterson, a 6-2 cager, led the Inter-County League in scoring this season with 358 points. His teammate, Betts, who stands at

Springfield Near Calder Cup Victory

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Springfield Indians are only one victory away from winning their second straight American Hockey League Calder Cup under Coach Pat Egan.

The Indians defeated the Hershey Bears 7-3 Wednesday night to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven final playoff series. They can wrap up the cup by winning the fourth game here Saturday night.

Egan said his team Wednesday night "checked terrifically" the defense was sensational.

He said that substitute goalie George Wood, who has been outstanding in the playoffs since taking over for injured Marcel Paille, "made some terrific saves."

Jim Anderson paced the Indians' attack with two goals while teammate Gerry Foley had four assists.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was the last major leaguer to win a triple batting crown. He won the American League batting, home run and runs batted in titles in 1956.

6-0, tossed in a total of 267 markers.

Greenford's Shoff led his team in scoring the past two seasons. This year he missed three games because of an ankle injury but still managed to tally 237 points for a 13.2 average. He made 3.4 per cent of his field goal tries and was a good defensive performer. Shoff earned three varsity letters in basketball.

Wilt, a 6-1 senior, led the Bobcats in free throws. He averaged 9.3 points per fray. Wilt also grabbed 131 rebounds. Like Shoff, Wilt is a three-year letterwinner.

GREENFORD's other representative on the all-league team, Bob Cook, is only a sophomore. This 6-3 cager led Coach Jerry Sues's club in rebounds with 205 and was the second leading scorer with 219 points for a 10.4 average.

Clarence Kannal was Fairfield-Waterford's leading scorer this season with 225 points. A strong team man, Kannal also led his club in assists with 21 and in interceptions with 30. The 6-1 star is a three-year letterman. He shot a fine 47 per cent from the field and 69 per cent from the foul stripe.

Messenger, 6-0, 170-pound senior, was the Rebels' number two scorer with 168 markers. He shot 40 per cent from the field. Messenger is a two-year letterman at Fairfield-Waterford.

WARD MANCHESTER was a one-man gang for North Lima this season. The 6-0, 155-pound points—second only to Patterson shooting sensation tossed in 346 in the Inter-County League scoring race.

Western Reserve's lone representative on the all-league team, Dick Scriver, tallied 166 points. He is 6-2 and weighs 170 pounds. Lowellville's three all-league performers were all prolific scorers. Chuck Schiavello, 5-11, led the trio with 330 markers. John Hvidsak, 5-9, hooped an even 300 points; and Jim Dovich, strong 6-2, 195-pound rebounding specialist, tallied 285 markers.

Shot In Arm Gives Mantle Pain In Neck

NEW YORK (AP) — This was one spring when everything was right with Mickey Mantle — no strains, no pains, no ailments at all when he and the New York Yankees opened the American League season. So he took a shot in the arm to help him stay that way, and the trouble started.

"He has a knot the size of a baseball on his left arm," said Manager Ralph Houk, "but I think he'll be able to play today. It's from a hay fever shot he took yesterday morning. Damndest thing you ever saw."

Mantle, who was 0-for-4 and struck out twice when Pedro Ramos pitched a three-hitter that gave the Minnesota Twins a 6-0 opening day victory Tuesday, had a tough time in the batting cage during Wednesday's off day workout.

"There's no pain," said Mick, "but I felt dizzy and nauseated."

Major League Stars

Pitching — Billy Loes, Giants, allowed nine hits, but just one run over eight innings in first start in three seasons for 2-1 decision over Pirates.

Hitting — Wally Moon, Dodgers, broke up shutout and overhauled Phils' lead with two-run homer in seventh inning of 3-2 victory.

Action Starts Monday at Memorial Building

Ohio, Pennsylvania Teams Enter Salem Cage Tourney

The 27th annual Salem Little City Basketball Tournament will get underway Monday night at the Memorial Building.

Entries are still coming in from independent teams in northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. As of yesterday, 10 teams had paid their entry fee and several others had stated their intentions of sending a squad here for the week-long tourney.

Probably the strongest outfit entered to date is Blepp-Coombs Sporting Goods of Cleveland. Some of the standouts listed on the Blepp-Coombs roster are Jerry DuPont, 6-11; Dave Matthews, 6-5; and Bob Andregg, 6-6. This was the team which gave Bevo Francis and his East Liverpool Freed's gang such a rough battle before losing out in the quarterfinals of the United Invitational tournament last week.

FORMER SALEM HIGH cagers make up most of the roster of a team entered under the sponsorship of Fad Music. On this crew are Fred Ackerman, 6-0; Bill Pauline, 6-5; Jack Alexander, 6-2; Burt Patterson, 6-3; Jim Foreman, 6-0; George Burrier, 5-9; Tod Couchie, 6-5; and Rich Hunter, 6-0. This team finished as runner-up in the recent Wellsville Jaycees tourney.

Denny Farm Equipment of Alliance has lined up Kenny Schoeni, Gene Kitzmiller, Marion Kitzmiller, Fred Brunner, Wayne Walters, Doug Duncan and Dick Youngpeter. Jim Hahlen will manage this group of Damascus, Sebring and Alliance area cagers.

DUNCAN, who starred for Alliance High School, this season, is also listed on the Alliance Forest & Moser roster. Which of the two teams he will play for in the Salem tourney has not been settled.

Other cagers listed on the Forest & Moser roster are Howard Good, Richard Good, Don Schuller, Jim Forest, Dick Krieger, Larry King and Bob Pike.

Bayless Gas of Damascus will be led by Ed Daugherty who was voted most valuable player in the Salem city league this season. He will work with Clark Avery, former Youngstown scholastic star; Dave McLaughlin, Frank Mame-snik of Newton Falls; Delmar Stanley of North Jackson; and Manager Bob Sevinski of Youngstown.

Gosney's Insurance of Columbiana will feature Bob Adams of Lisbon; Vaughn Harshman, Bob Theiss and George Ramsey of Salem; Lee Chamberlain and Ron Zellers.

PAIGE SPENCER will manage the Massillon Tiger Town entry. The tallest man on the Tiger Town roster is 6-4 Bob Seek.

Paul White, who scored 54 points in one game in last year's Little City Tournament, will be back this year playing for the New Brighton Bears. Most of the players on the New Brighton team are from Geneva College.

Other definite entries are Sebring Collins Dairy, managed by John Smith; and P. L. Gibson Insurance of Vienna. These two teams are still filling out their rosters.

Leonard Lynes of San Francisco finished second to Green Bay's Tom Moore in kickoff return yardage last year. He had a 30.9 average on 17 returns, one of which he carried 97 yards for a touchdown.

Cleveland Sends Gary Bell Against Detroit Today

Hurler Insists Arm Is All Right

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today may get an answer to one of the big questions of the spring: How good is Gary Bell's arm?

The 24-year-old right-hander won 16 games in 1959 but slipped to a 9-10 record last year and was

GAMES POSTPONED!

The Cleveland Indians' game scheduled in Detroit today with the Tigers has been postponed because of cold and wet grounds. The Kansas City at Boston fray this afternoon also was called off.

out of action at the end of the season with an aching shoulder.

Bell insists his arm is all right now, and his performance in spring training seems to bear him out.

Today he gets his first real test of the year against the Detroit Tigers. The Indians, idle Wednesday, whipped the Tigers 9-5 in the season opener here Tuesday.

"In the last three games out west I really cut loose," Bell said Wednesday. "Felt good, too," he added. "The ball's not going as fast as it has, but that's true of every pitcher now. It's still too early. Arms aren't as strong as they'll be next month."

In 22 innings of exhibition pitching, the 6-foot-1, 195-pound Texan held the opposition to five earned runs.

Bell is consistently good-humored, and there have been suggestions that he might be more effective on the mound if he were a little meaner.

"They keep telling me to get mad," said Bell. "It's not in me to get mean. How can I act that way if it's not natural? Besides, a good curve ball will win more games than a temper."

Asked if he ever got into a fight on the ball field, Bell replied: "Shoot, I can't even remember the last time I was in a fight off the ball field."

He may be in a good scrap, pitchingwise, today against Detroit's Frank Lary, who worked nine scoreless innings in his last exhibition performance.

Trapshoot Contest Will Begin on Friday

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Midwest marksmen get an early chance this year to show their shooting form, at the Mid-America Trapshoot championships starting here Friday.

An expected 450 trapshooters from Ohio and surrounding states are expected to compete in the new event at the Sportsmen's Club.

For some, the three-day meet will be an early tune-up for the Ohio State Trapshoot championships in June.

Play In Chicago on Friday

Red Wings Tie Series With Win Over Hawks

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Faced with the problem of winning in Chicago or conceding the Stanley Cup to the Chicago Black Hawks, the Detroit Red Wings and their newest hero—rookie Bruce MacGregor—were off today to see if they can negotiate the soft ice in Chicago Stadium.

"If this winning at home business keeps up, we're going to lose out," said Detroit Coach Sid Abel after his Wings had knotted the series at two games each with a 2-1 victory Wednesday night on MacGregor's third period goal.

The best-of-seven series continues Friday night and returns to Detroit Sunday night. If a seventh game is needed, it will be played in Chicago Tuesday night. The Hawks therefore have the advantage and earned it by finishing higher in the National Hockey League than did the fourth place Red Wings who have won but one game in Chicago all season.

While the Red Wings were all aglow over the guarantee of returning to Detroit for another game, the Black Hawks were fuming over the officiating by Referee Frank Udvari Wednesday night.

"He's gutless or Adams (Jack Adams, Detroit general manager) has him scared to death," muttered Tommy Ivan, the Hawk general manager.

For the first time in the series the team which scored first did not go on to win. Red Hay put the Hawks in front Wednesday night with a goal at 7:34 in the second period but one minute and 14 seconds later Delvecchio tied it up while the Hawks had a man in the penalty box.

That was the way it stood until MacGregor put through the winning goal at 13:10 of the third.

Orioles Trade Walker to A's Get Dick Williams In 4-Player Deal

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, hoping to make 1961 the year they capture the American League pennant, have traded one of their young pitchers for what is hoped to be an offensive punch.

The Birds Wednesday night sent pitcher Jerry Walker, 22, to the Kansas City Athletics for utility outfielder Dick Williams, 31.

Others included in the straight four-player deal were the Orioles' Chuck Essegian, 29, an outfielder and Kansas City's Dick Hall, 30, a pitcher.

"It is a luxury to be able to be concerned strictly with the future," said Lee MacPhail, Oriole president-general manager. "If we are going to be a pennant contender this year, we must be concerned with the immediate present."

"What we are trying to do is improve our offense. It is hard to get hitters. You cannot get them without giving up something of value. We feel very badly about giving up Jerry Walker, a fine young man who could be a fine pitcher for a number of years."

This will be the third time that Williams, who hit .288, slugged 12 homers and drove in 65 runs for the A's last year, has been in Baltimore.

Hall, who was 8-13 last year for Kansas City, is expected to see relief duty for Baltimore. Essegian, a pinchhitting hero of the 1959 World Series for the Los Angeles Dodgers, was purchased by the Birds Feb. 1.

Greensboro Open Gets Under Way

By KEN ALTYA
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — After battling the formidable Augusta National course for almost a week in the Masters tournament, the touring golf professionals moved their road show to the Sedgfield Country Club today to start the four-day 72-hole Greater Greensboro open.

If they are looking for a soft touch they may be in for a surprise, according to Tom Case, host professional at the course where the pros will be battling for $22,500 in prizes. Sedgfield, which last played host to the tournament four years ago, has been toughened considerably. It has a par of 71 and measures about 7,000 yards.

Sam Snead, approaching his 49th birthday, will be shooting for his eighth victory. He won the inaugural in 1938 and last spring took No. 7. Masters champion Gary Player is taking a brief vacation from the tour, but there are many formidable challengers for Snead in the field of about 140. Among them are Doug Sanders, Julius Boros, Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell, Peter Thomson, Kel Nagle, Stan Leonard and Charlie Sifford, the Los Angeles pro who is the first Negro to play a major PGA event in the South. In the pro-amateur warmup Wednesday Bobby Nichols of Louisville, Ky., won the $250 first place money with a 65. Leonard, of Vancouver, B. C., was second with a 67, worth $210.

A golfer without a proper stance is like a building on a shaky foundation. The stance is the base on which you build your game. If the setup is good, you will have a feeling of perfect balance, a sense of security, so to speak. You will be able to turn the hips and shoulders freely. The swing will be easier to groove than it will if you address the ball improperly. Having the feet soundly planted will make it easier to perfect timing and coordination, so essential to low scoring. It enables you to hit more solidly through the ball. If, instead of facing the ball squarely with both feet, you withdraw the right foot slightly from the line, the body will turn slightly to the right and the golfer will be in what we call a closed stance. The closed stance usually is preferable for the drive and other long shots, but it has its limitations, as you will learn.

Miami Team Bids for Lead In Bowling

DETROIT (AP) —With the best start of any team to date, Brunswick of Miami, Fla., bids for first place in the classic division of the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight. The Miamians rolled 3,036 Wednesday night and will have to shoot 2,943 or better tonight to go ahead of Stroh's Beer of Detroit, leading with 5,978. The previous high series of 3,034 was shot by the St. Louis Budweisers March 18. Brunswick put together games of 957, 1,042 and 1,037. Len Springmeyer, 1947 ABC doubles champion with teammate Eddie Doerr, Jr., led the team with 631. Doerr fired 611, George Nenezian 623, Lou Mandragona 617 and Stan Gurwitz 554. Schmidt Beer of St. Paul took second place Wednesday night on a 3,000 score for a total of 5,948. Longest pass play in the Big Ten last season was a toss by Tom Matte to Charles Bryant. It covered 67 yards for Ohio State.

Lucas Scores 19 In AAU All-Star Intrasquad Tilt

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—All-America Jerry Lucas scored 19 points Wednesday night as his team lost 95-86 in an intrasquad game of the United States AAU all-star team which will play in Russia soon. John McLendon, coach of the National Basketball League champion Cleveland team, who is in charge of the all-star team, said he was satisfied with his cager's performance. "I was happy about the defensive play of Lucas," McLendon said. Luke led in rebounding with 17. Jim Francis, of Akron's NBL team, held Lucas scoreless the first 10 minutes. Dan Swartz, on the winning squad, led the scorers with 27 points.

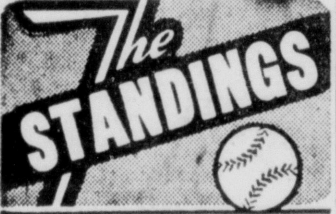

SPORT FACTS

Northwestern's Mike Stock was a workhorse against Notre Dame last season. He carried the football 25 times on rushes. Best Big Ten scrimmage run of 1960 was turned in by Iowa's Larry Ferguson against Ohio State. He went 91 yards. Pitcher Cy Young of Boston won 32 games in both the 1901 and 1902 American League baseball seasons.

BOWLING

Ethel Bricker worked the woods for a 556 series, highlighted by a 206 single game, to set a fast pace for bowlers in the Ladies Commercial League at Timberlakes yesterday.

Lois Longanecker finished in the number two spot with a 537-188, and Dorothy Vogelhuber was third with her 530-186.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

One of Jimmy Hoffa's lieutenants flew all the way to Hawaii to tell a left-wing longshoremen's convention that most leaders of the AFL-CIO were "whiskey-drinking, poker-playing do-nothings." That lieutenant — one of Hoffa's intellectual aides — was applauded and rewarded. The Pacific Longshoremen's Union parley passed a whistling and stomping resolution praising Hoffa and the Teamsters Union.

This "whiskey-drinking, poker-playing" phrase was stolen without credit from the insult camp of the world, John L. Lewis. But that's not all that Hoffa and his braintrust are stealing from John L.

They are taking over the technique used by the coal miners' leader when he was feuding with the AFL and CIO leadership decades ago, as bitterly as Hoffa fights it today.

That technique was the creation of legal machinery to build a powerful national labor movement.

Lewis never got around to it because, as he once confided to a friend, he was "too old" to start anew.

HOFFA IS YOUNG at 48 and here is what he's planning:

Deep in his national headquarters — where others would have put a private bar, Hoffa has a private bar association.

This corps of lawyers has been shooting more paper directives at all Teamster locals, than the Pentagon unloads on a rainy day.

On Hoffa's orders, all 900 local unions are being told, comma by comma, to make all preparations and election of delegates for the July 3 national convention at the Deauville Hotel in Miami Beach as legal as possible.

That's an obsession now. Woe to the legal man who lets an irregularity slip through Hoffa has the votes and he will not chance any more monitoring.

At the same time he is having his lawyers rewrite the Teamsters' Brotherhood Constitution. From the tender loving care they're giving this assignment you'd think it was a new U.N.

Under the new constitution which Hoffa will have his next convention adopt, the Teamsters' Union will be able to launch a national labor movement similar in structure to the AFL-CIO.

Under the revised constitution, Hoffa will be able to charter entire international unions. Not just new locals but national unions. Not locals which would become an integral part of the Teamsters Union with Hoffa as their president but national unions having their own presidents.

For example, Hoffa could charter, under the IBT, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. Harry Bridges is the president. He would stay president.

The Longshoremen would not send delegates to a Teamsters' convention, nor would they vote for Brother Hoffa as Teamsters' president. They would simply be federated with the Teamsters'.

as the Teamsters' Union once was part of the AFL-CIO.

JOHN LEWIS used this technique when he had his United Mine Workers issue a charter to a catch-all union called District 50. It has its own president and does not send delegates to the Miners' convention or vote for Miners' Union president.

What would be Hoffa's potential? Enormous. There are several million members in independent unions today. There are the miners, for example, who will not move while John Lewis is active. But Hoffa will invite the coal diggers into his new federation, nonetheless.

There are the left-wing Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, whom Hoffa has helped and the United Electrical Workers, once a fiery left-wing operation; and hundreds more in such varied fields as the oil refineries, the utilities and chemicals, just to mention a few.

Furthermore, Hoffa has an ally or two inside the AFL-CIO. He'll invite them to bolt.

Thus, if after he knocks hard at the door the official House of Labor won't let him in, he'll simply build a new one.

Chicken Ceci

2 cans (1 pound each) chick peas, 1 red onion (diced), 6 ribs celery with leafy tops, salad oil and wine vinegar, salt, pepper and Italian seasoning, 2 large broiler-fryers (cut in serving-size pieces).

Mix drained chick peas, onion and chopped celery with enough oil and vinegar (in equal parts) to cover; refrigerate overnight.

Next day, place chicken in 1 layer in shallow baking dish; cover with vegetables and marinade. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 2½ hours.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl 22 and a secretary at a large oil firm. I keep a cash box out of which I pay postage due and cod's. I am responsible for the $300 which the box contains.

Every Friday I take from $50 to $100 from the cash box and play the horses or bet on a ball game or a fight.

If I win fine, but if I lose I borrow money or take it from my savings to even up the cash box.

I also keep a diary in which I record the cash box transactions, as well as some intimate details of my life. The diary is locked and I have the only key. I also lock the desk drawer.

Yesterday my boss called me in and asked if I took money from the cash box on weekends. I was shocked and accused him of breaking into my desk drawer and reading my diary. He denied everything.

How did he know if he didn't read my diary? Since I'm responsible for that lousy cash box don't I have the right to borrow money from it if I want to? I was not fired but I would quit if I didn't have to support three people. How about it?—TULSA.

Dear Tulsa: You have no right to borrow company money for any reason whatever—for a weekend, a day or a minute. If you were hit by a truck Friday night the shortage would be all yours. You'd be labeled a thief—and the label fits.

Most embezzlers admit after they are caught that they started out "borrowing" just as you are doing now. If you want to play the horses and bet on the fight, "borrow" from your own savings account.

The boss didn't need to read your diary. When a salaried gal is seen at the track placing bets as often as you are, Toots, it's a safe assumption that she's up to no good.

Trapped Fugitive

Dear Ann: Recently I got a girl in trouble, if you know what I mean. In the panic of not having a steady job I joined the armed forces. I was supposed to ship out right away but the plans were changed. I called the girl to tell her I wasn't leaving right away but her folks wouldn't let me talk to her.

They somehow got the idea that just because I joined the armed forces, I was trying to run out on her. What I wanted to talk to her about was getting some money to her and the baby.

Yesterday, when I finally got her on the phone, she said she never wanted to see me or hear from me again. Her folks have turned her against me and I need your help.—L.M.

Dear L.M.: Well what do you know—the first thing you did when you learned your girl was in trouble was join the armed forces. Then something went wrong and you didn't ship right out after all. Bum luck, eh?

And now the folks have the dirty nerve to suspect that maybe you were trying to skip?

Look, Buster, if you're on the level, send the money through a lawyer. (And I hope she sends it back.) you sound real nothing to me.

Confidentially

TO UNSTRUNG: String yourself together and find a part-time job. You need to get out of the house before you go stir-nuts. And the extra money will give you a feeling of dignity.

TO PUZZLED: So am I. Your story is filled with fish hooks. If you're on the level, send your name and address and I'll try to help you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SPACE FOR SPACE—Every time a missile nose cone races hundreds of miles into space and thousands of miles down the test range in a few minutes, it leaves behind miles of magnetic recording tape that takes months to decipher. The taped information is valuable since it records every detail of a flight. Photo shows a small part of the 2,000 pounds (four million feet) of tape that has been amassed from 135 flights by GE-made nose cones. They represent 32.1 hours of flight over 230,960 nautical miles by 162,000 pounds of equipment. They include such firsts as the first ICBM flight of a nose cone, and first object ever recovered from orbit.

Vegetable Medley

(Yield: 4 to 5 servings)

1 cup fresh snap beans, cut into 2-inch pieces, 1 cup sliced fresh carrots, 1 cup cubed potatoes, cut into 1-inch cubes, 1/2 cup sliced celery, 1 inch boiling water in saucepan, 1/2 cup sliced scallions, 1/2 cup sliced green pepper, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup (8-ounce can) tomato sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon crumbled whole basil,

1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper. Parboil beans, carrots, potatoes, and celery in the 1-inch boiling water. Sauté scallions and green pepper in butter or margarine in a skillet. Add tomato paste, seasonings and the drained vegetables. Toss lightly. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Serve hot with heat and a salad.

Monana ranks fourth in size among states of the Union, being outranked by Alaska, Texas and California, in that order.

HECTIC, NOT HISTORIC—Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger doesn't have a richly-carved, historic desk like his boss, but it's really cluttered.

NUMBER ONE FAN—Ann Trinkaus of Pittsburgh formed a fan club for actor Craig Curtis. Then she married him. She won't have any further use for that official gavel now.

TIRE TESTER

BETTY MORGAN certainly qualifies as a Jill of all trades. This 23-year-old honey blonde once sold cures for hangovers, modeled lingerie and was a movie stand-in. Her most unusual job, though, is as a test driver—and a top one—for a rubber firm in Somerton, near Melbourne, Australia. A former stunt driver, car trader and chemist, she once competed in "crash driving," as it is called Down Under. She drove in car trials and stunted on a speeding motorcycle. Now she spins cars at dizzy speeds over dirt roads, through stony creek beds and around hairpin turns, testing tires for her employers. Technical experts from her firm check the tires after Betty has put them through a torture test. Although her working clothes include leopard-skin slacks, she drives like a tigress.

Betty is at right-hand-drive of a test car.

Here's reason she was once in the "Miss Australia" contest.

WITH WATER-COOLED ENGINES—Few drivers with winter driving worries have the woes of owners of these cars. The autos side-slipped into the Mississippi while parked on icy cobblestones along bank in Memphis, Tenn.

She's at the wheel of this car as it speeds over a rocky trail. She tests performance of Goodrich tires.

Parmesan Broccoli

1 package (10 ounces) chopped broccoli, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 to 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, freshly-ground pepper.

Cook broccoli according to package directions using the amount of water called for but add only 1/4 teaspoon salt; drain.

Stir in, off heat, the butter and cheese with pepper to taste. Add more salt if needed. Makes 3 servings. Double recipe for 6.

Pumpkin Pies

6 ounces evaporated milk, 1/4 cups regular milk, 1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) pumpkin, 1 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 4 eggs (slightly beaten), two 9-inch unbaked pie shells (with high fluted edges).

Scald undiluted evaporated milk together with regular milk. Mix together well the pumpkin, sugars, salt, cinnamon, cloves and slightly beaten eggs. Gradually stir in hot milk.

Pour into pie shells. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 10 minutes.

Continue baking in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until center of filling looks firm. Cool on wire racks.

Ham Loaf

2 cups finely ground cooked ham (packed down), 1 cup soft bread crumbs (crusts removed), 1 egg (slightly beaten), 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 to 1/3 cup milk, paprika.

Mix all ingredients except paprika together; pack into an 8-inch pie plate. Sprinkle top with paprika. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Fish Fillets, French Style

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Fillet of Sole Bonne Femme (good housewife) is a combination of fish, flavorful vegetables and a velvety sauce. It's on the menu of every French restaurant in this country.

Here's an easy way to prepare this outstanding dish, using foil instead of the copper or earthenware used by French cooks. The foil keeps the fish fillets intact while cooking.

FISH FILLETS, BONNE FEMME (Serves 3 to 4)

1 pound fresh or frozen fillets of sole, flounder or fluke, 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced or chopped, 1 small onion, sliced water thin, 1/2 cup dry white wine or 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1/4 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, freshly ground pepper, 1/2 teaspoon packaged "herbs for salad," 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup or more light cream, 2 to 3 cups freshly mashed potatoes, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Rinse and pat dry fresh fillets; thaw frozen fillets. Place a large piece of heavy duty aluminum wrap on a cookie sheet. Dot center with 1 tablespoon butter.

Place fillets on butter and arrange mushrooms and onion slices over fish. Pour over the wine or lemon juice and water. Dot with a second tablespoon of butter and sprinkle with seasonings.

Seal the foil to make a tight package and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 minutes.

While fish bakes, melt remaining butter in a small saucepan, blend in the flour and cook gently 2 minutes. Have ready hot mashed potatoes, well seasoned. Remove fish from oven. Open foil and gently pour juice into butter-flour mixture. Add cream to make about 2 cups of sauce. Stir and cook to not-quite-medium-thick consistency. Add additional seasonings to taste.

Transfer foil with fillets and vegetables to a heatproof platter or shallow baking dish. Spread out foil to shape of dish and crimp to make an attractive edging.

Spoon the mashed potatoes around the fish. Pour sauce over fish, sprinkle with grated cheese and brown lightly under broiler.

Vegetable Salad

(Yield: 8 servings)

1 head iceberg or Boston lettuce, 2 medium size unpeeled cucumbers, sliced, 3 medium size red Bermuda onions, or 2 bunches scallions, 3 medium size fresh tomatoes, sliced, 1/2 pound cheddar cheese, radishes, salt to taste, ground black pepper to taste, olive or salad oil, fresh lemon juice, wine vinegar.

Tear lettuce into small pieces and place in a salad bowl. Arrange cucumbers, onions, tomatoes and cheese in groups around the bowl. Place radishes in center.

Just before serving, toss lightly with salt, ground black pepper, olive or salad oil, lemon juice, and vinegar to taste. Serve at once.

Skillet Shrimp

1 pound medium shrimp (about 28), 2 cups water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon each pepper, corns and whole allspice, 1 bay leaf, 1/4 cup butter, 1 clove garlic (crushed).

Wash shrimp in cold water; drain. In a 10-inch skillet slowly bring shrimp, water, salt, peppercorns, allspice and bay leaf to just boiling; cover and simmer about 5 minutes or until shells are pink. Shrimp can be turned once with a large slotted spoon. Drain; shell and devein shrimp; cut in half lengthwise.

Melt butter with garlic in same clean dry skillet; add shrimp and toss to coat with seasoned butter and to heat. Makes 3 servings.

Note: If shrimp are frozen, thaw before using.

Pineapple Cream

1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup quick cooking rice cereal, 3 tablespoons of butter, 2 eggs, separated, 1 can (9 ounces) pineapple, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Bring milk, 1/4 cup sugar and salt to a boil in a saucepan.

Sprinkle in rice cereal, stirring constantly so that boiling does not stop. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until thickened, about 5 minutes.

Remove from heat and add butter. Beat egg yolks until fluffy. Stir a few spoonfuls of cooked rice into the beaten egg yolks, then pour egg mixture back into cooked rice, mixing well.

Add contents of can of pineapple and lemon juice. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, gradually adding remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Gently fold into rice-pineapple mixture. Pour into serving dishes and chill thoroughly.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Tuberculosis Immunity with BCG Vaccine

I have explained the meaning of tuberculin tests. In brief, the negative test simply means the absence of protective antibody, the positive test the presence of protective antibodies.

Today, I want to speak of what can be done to stimulate the manufacture of protective antibodies in the case of the negative reactor. And what can be done to protect the positive reactor whose antibody content does not seem to be sufficiently protective under existing circumstances.

Stimulation of protective antibodies in amounts sufficient to convert the negative to a positive reaction may be accomplished by injection of BCG vaccine.

BCG VACCINE is a suspension of very much weakened tubercle bacilli of a strain isolated by Drs. Calmette and Guérin, after whom it is named. These bacilli are alive, just as the virus in smallpox vaccine is alive. But they, like the cowpox virus, are unable to produce human disease.

You should know, however, that years ago infections were produced by imperfectly processed vaccine, and that alarmists still refer to these unfortunate experiences today. But every batch in present use in the United States is tested and approved by our very proficient Public Health Service and, in the millions of doses thus far given, there has been no accident such as previously occurred.

BCG vaccination is simply induced by placing a drop of suspension on the skin and then making multiple perforation in the skin so that vaccine is introduced into the superficial skin layers.

It is as painless as smallpox inoculation and just as safe.

THE SUCCESSFUL BCG "take" does not appear for two to six weeks. It looks not unlike a smallpox "take" and it may be accompanied by some soreness and swelling of local lymph nodes.

After about a month, the skin test that was previously negative turns positive. And this indicates that the body has manufactured enough protective antibody to guard against most invasions by tubercle bacilli.

Now in certain countries, BCG vaccination is compulsory. The World Health Organization has used it with great success in backward countries where tuberculosis is still the White Plague and a leading cause for invalidism and death. Fortunately, we do not require compulsory BCG vaccination in the United States. But, if you are apt to be heavily exposed, you may give it your consideration. And by heavy exposure, I mean those who live in congested areas or barracks, those who live in a home with someone who has or has had a tuberculous infection, those who come from families known to be susceptible to tuberculosis and those who are occupationally exposed, like nurses, doctors, dentists, laboratory technicians and hospital workers or volunteers.

Now, of course, you will realize that there's no sense giving BCG vaccine to positive reactors who already have circulating antibody. However, in the rare instance of the person whose negative reaction is being converted to a positive by BCG vaccine and who may need protection until antibodies form, an antituberculous drug (tuberculoide) can be given in tablet form. And these same tablets can be given the positive reactor whose antibodies may need a bit of an assist in the battle against invading bacilli.
